

It was very clear that I had gross inflammatory effects when I went to Malyasia in 2016 after Dr. Vladan Milsavljevic falsified all the medical diagnostics around Multiple Sclerosis, including MRIs, EEGs, and EMGs (he tries to cover up the values of the EMG in the medical report).

The inflammatory effect was due to not giving the medication for Multiple Sclerosis properly (it must be given in IV not orally). With clear inflammation present externally you could determine that all the blood test markers of inflammation were falsified by Dr. Vladan Milsavljevic and that his medical negligence was unignorable due to the externally visible effect.

My skin healed within 6 months, but typifies the extent of negligence (even with gross features, the doctor ignores everything or falsifies medical data to ignore everything).
